FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

CENTENNIAL PROGRAM IDEAS STILL BEING SOUGHT

CHARLESTON, IL--Eastern Illinois University's Centennial Celebration Committee is still accepting proposals for a special program series highlighting the University's centennial celebration.

Community members and Eastern alumni, faculty and staff are invited to submit ideas for the lecture/performance series, consisting of eight programs during the 1994-95 academic year. Campus and community organizations may also nominate candidates.

CENTENNIAL PROGRAM IDEAS SOUGHT

Proposals should be submitted by April 30 to Dan Thornburgh, c/o 219 Old Main, Eastern Illinois University, Charleston, IL 61920.

The primary criterion for selecting programs will be whether they relate to the centennial celebration theme "Excellence at Eastern: A Proud History and a Promising Future."

For more information about nomination criteria, call Charles Switzer, centennial programming chairperson, at 345-7328.

Eastern will celebrate its 100th anniversary on May 22, 1995.
