SAXOPHONIST TO APPEAR AT EIU

CHARLESTON, ILL.--Internationally known saxophonist, Joseph Lulloff, will present a guest artist performance at Eastern Illinois University's Dvorak Concert Hall Friday, Sept. 18, at 7:30 p.m.

The presentation will be free and is open to the public.

The Milwaukee, Wisc. native received his Bachelor and Master of Music degrees with honors at Michigan State University.

In international music competitions, Lulloff recently won the Pro Musicis International Music Award. From this high honor, he will present recitals at Jordan Hall in Boston, the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C., Merkin Concert Hall in New York City, and major concert halls in San Francisco and Los Angeles in the 1987-88 and 1988-89 concert seasons.

Currently an assistant professor of saxophone at the University of Illinois in Champaign-Urbana, Lulloff's most recent performances include solo recitals at the Sixth World Saxophone Congress in Chicago, the Seventh World Saxophone Congress in Nuremburg, West Germany, Carnegie Recital Hall in New York City, the Centre d'Arts d'Orford in Magog, Quebec, and at numerous colleges, universities, and concert series throughout the nation.

His recordings include a compact disk of Milhaud's "La Creation du Monde" on Arabesque and David Liptak's "Fantasy for Alto Saxophone and Piano" on Veriatza.

In the field of jazz, he has been named outstanding soloist at the University of Notre Dame and The Ohio State University Collegiate Jazz Festivals.
