FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

GUEST LECTURER

CHARLESTON, IL.--Elyse Mach, Board of Governors Distinguished Professor, will speak on "Great Pianists of Today: Thoughts and Viewpoints" at Eastern Illinois University Monday, Nov. 12.

Mach, a music professor at Northeastern Illinois University, will speak at 7:30 p.m. in Eastern's Coleman Hall Auditorium. The lecture is free and open to the public.

She is a concert pianist, author and authority on Franz Liszt and is widely recognized for her musicianship and writings on musical subjects.

Mach has written seven textbooks, her most recent being "The Well-Tempered Keyboard Teacher," designed for use by piano teachers and university music students.

One of her best-known works is the internationally acclaimed two-volume "Great Pianists Speak for Themselves," which is based on interviews with 25 famous concert pianists, including Vladimir Ashkenazy, Alfred Brendel, Alicia de Larrocha, and the late Vladimir Horowitz.

Her text "Contemporary Class Piano," written expressly for Northeastern music students, is used in more than 100 universities and colleges throughout the U.S.

She has performed as a soloist presenting American composers to European audiences for the Dutch National Broadcasting Company and Zurich Radio Broadcasting. Mach has also performed in this country with the NBC Orchestra in a televised concert.

Mach earned her bachelor's degree from Valparaiso University and her master's and Ph.D. degrees from Northwestern University.
