FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

HADWIGER HONORED

CHARLESTON, IL--Ken Hadwiger of Charleston, a professor in the Speech Communication Department at Eastern Illinois University, was honored in Switzerland recently for his work interfacing the Swiss broadcasting system with U.S. government agencies and international scholarly associations.

Hadwiger was recognized by the Swiss Broadcasting Corporation for his 20 years' of study and consultancy between U.S. diplomatic sources, such as the U.S. Embassy Press Attache Office, and Swiss radio and television industries.

HADWIGER

He was in Switzerland to attend the Twelfth Bi-annual International Colloquium on Communication.

While chair of the Commission on International/Intercultural Communication, Hadwiger accomplished the first official tie between the German Speech Association and the U.S. Speech Communication Association. In addition, Hadwiger and EIU Speech Communication Professor Calvin Smith produced the first Proceedings published as a result of this international conference.

His work was responsible for organizing the World Communication Association and the first post-war communication conference in West Berlin in 1977.
