

5-28-1986

05/28/1986 - Contemporary Problems in Technology

University Marketing and Communications

Follow this and additional works at: http://thekeep.eiu.edu/press_releases_1986

Recommended Citation

University Marketing and Communications, "05/28/1986 - Contemporary Problems in Technology" (1986). 1986. 619.
http://thekeep.eiu.edu/press_releases_1986/619

This is brought to you for free and open access by the Press Releases at The Keep. It has been accepted for inclusion in 1986 by an authorized administrator of The Keep. For more information, please contact tabruns@eiu.edu.

FCR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CHARLESTON, IL--Eastern Illinois University will offer a graduate level course, Contemporary Problems in Technology, at Danville Area Community College this summer.

The course will begin on Wednesday (June 18) at 7 p.m. in the College Center, Room 105. For further information contact the EIU School of Technology (217/581-3226) or the Office of Continuing Education (217/581-5114).

The course is a study of the technical and sociocultural problems resulting from human effort to develop, improve and utilize improved methods of producing material goods, services and information.

-30-

CHARLESTON, IL--Eastern Illinois University will offer seven courses this summer at Danville Area Community College.

Three of those, America's German Heritage, International Terrorism and Origin and Extinction, will partially fulfill the general education requirements for EIU's undergraduate degree programs.

For further information, contact the EIU Office of Continuing Education (217/581-5114).

All three classes will meet 7-9:30 p.m. twice a week.

The course on German heritage will begin on Wednesday, June 18 in the College Center, Room 110. The terrorism class will start the same night in 111 College Center while Origin and Extinction will commence on Tuesday, June 17 in 102 College Center.

-30-