FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CHARLESTON, IL--CBS newsman Ike Pappas, media analyst Jean Kilbourne, and the authors of "Growing Up Catholic" are among lecturers scheduled at Eastern Illinois University during the 1986-87 school year.

Other speakers will be Billy Hayes, the young man jailed in Turkey on drug smuggling charges, and Milt Tatelman with an inside look at the dynamics of film seduction.

Pappas' appearance, coinciding with Journalism Week, will be on April 2. A national correspondent for CBS, Pappas covered the King and Kennedy assassinations, the space program, Vietnam, Kent State, and all national elections since 1964.

"Growing Up Catholic," described as "an irreverent but affectionate look at the lighter side of the Catholic experience," will be presented on Tuesday, Sept. 30 at 8 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom, University Union.

Ms. Kilbourne will discuss the images associated with alcohol in advertising on Oct. 14. In her lectures, she "combines accurate information about alcohol use and abuse with incisive wit and irony."

Hayes will speak on Feb. 4 about his experience in the Turkish prison, "hoping that people will learn from my experiences so they may be able to see the consequences of their actions and take responsibility for them."

"Seduced At the Movies" will be the title of Tatelman's lecture on March 10. He mixes unsparing humor and unusual insight with candid information."

All programs will be in the Grand Ballroom, Union, beginning at 8 p.m.

General public tickets are $3 for each lecture and children will be admitted for $1. Special rates are available for groups of 20 or more.
