FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

RAMSAY NAMED BOSS OF THE YEAR

CHARLESTON, IL--Sandi Ramsay of Casey has been selected Eastern Illinois University's "Boss of the Year."

Ramsay, payroll supervisor, was selected by a subcommittee of the university's Office Staff Support Group (OSSG), composed of representatives from across campus. EIU civil service employees and office staff support personnel were invited to nominate their supervisors for the award.

She is responsible for the supervision of faculty, staff and student payroll and oversees an office of five staff members and four student employees.

RAMSAY NAMED BOSS OF THE YEAR

"I don't think of myself as a 'boss'," Ramsay said. "I feel very privileged to work with such a committed and efficient professional staff."

An Eastern employee since 1972, Ramsay is active in university and church activities. In 1989, she was elected for a four-year term to represent Eastern on the Employee Advisory Committee of the State University Civil Service System. She is also the president of the University Club, a social group organized to generate interaction between employees.

As a member of the First Christian Church in Casey, she served as secretary on the building committee during the planning and construction of a new church facility.

Ramsay and her husband Jean, owner and operator of Lincoln Trail Motosports, live in Casey with her sons James, age 24, an Eastern student majoring in history, and Rusty, 21, a former private first class in the Marine Corps.

Her son-in-law and daughter, Robert and Andrea Schiver, reside in Martinsville with their two sons: John, 6, and Andrew, 5. Her son, Michael, lives in Oakland with his wife Debora, step-daughter, Jamie Ferguson, 10, and son, Matthew, 4.
