FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

EIU CLASSES OFFERED AT PARKLAND COLLEGE

CHARLESTON, IL--Eastern Illinois University's School of Adult and Continuing Education has announced its Fall schedule for Parkland College, with twenty-two courses and workshops offered.

Three special workshops for individuals interested in educational administration will deal with critical issues and controversies in educational administration, and are offered for either graduate or undergraduate credit. "Human Relations and Personnel," "The Political Dimension of Administration," and "Current Dilemmas," taught by three superintendents with over 40 years combined experience in educational administration.

For those interested in school media, "Administration and Supervision of Media," "Cataloguing and Classification," and "Basic Sources of Information" are being offered.

EIU is also offering two courses in industrial technology "Statistical Quality Assurance" and "Plant Layout and Material Handling."

Courses offered toward a bachelor's degree include "Foundations of the American Constitutional and Political System," "Productive Workteams," "Principles of Career Development," and "Strategies and Processes in Occupational Education." Also offered are "Uses and Abuses of Statistics," "Women in Art," "Women in American History," "Business Cycles," "Human Sexuality," "The Crisis in Food and World Politics," "The Changing Earth and Man," "Portfolio Development," and "Human Interaction Skills."
