

Fall '66

'As You Like It'

Reader's Theatre To Begin Nov. 4

The first Reader's Theatre presentation this year will be William Shakespeare's "As You Like It," to be performed Nov. 4, 5 and 6.

This is Shakespeare's "funniest romantic comedy," according to R. J. Schneider, associate professor of theatre arts.

SCHNEIDER, who is also the director, announced a departure from the usual Reader's Theatre format. The play will conclude with a wedding dance choreographed by Judy Bartlett, who is also portraying the goddess Hymen.

The cast for "As You Like It" was recently announced with Kathy Oros McKee, Charleston senior, as Rosalind; Jeff Martini, junior from North Park, as Orlando;

DONNA EMMANUEL, freshman from Calumet City, as Celia; Maurice Snively, Hoopston sophomore, as Touchstone; John Pajkos, graduate student from Chicago, as Jaques.

ALSO IN THE cast are Jill Stewart, Waukegan sophomore; Peg Johnson, Des Plaines junior; Dave Decker, Robinson freshman; Bill Prescott, Oak Lawn freshman; Mike Scott, Scotland freshman;

David Hicks, Kankakee senior; Duane Hoebet, Grant Park freshman; Bruce Edwards, Blue

Island freshman; Harry Hendershot, Newman senior;

Dan Bruneau, Winthrop, Me., junior; Al DeWerff, Mt. Olive junior; Judy Bartlett, Mattoon senior; and Greg Newlin, Hutsonville junior.

Play On Divorce At Five O'Clock

Today's Five O'Clock Theatre presentation has a title which may well be the thought of many married couples.

"Let's Get A Divorce!" by Victorien Sordou will be presented in the Fine Arts Theatre under the directorship of Leah Milburn, Charleston junior.

The play is a comedy about a fickle woman who cannot decide whether she would rather be a mistress or a wife.

Those in the cast are Dan File, Charleston; Jeff Hendricks, Mattoon; Jill Stewart, Waukegan; Jim Marnos, Chicago; Charles Christiansen, Chicago; Nancy Satorious; Dee Dee Williams, Chicago; Bill Prescott; Jerome Jackson, Chicago; Pam Johnson, Charleston; and Jeff Martini, Champaign.

A discussion will follow the performance in the lobby of the Fine Arts Center.