

Arthur Miller's "After The Fall" Runs Friday Through Tuesday

"After the Fall," a two-act play by Arthur Miller, will be presented at 8 p.m. this Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday and at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Fine Arts Theatre.

Tickets for the play, directed by E. Glendon Gabbard of the theatre arts department, may be obtained at the box office. Seats are reserved. Admission for students is free upon presentation of ID cards, and one dollar for adults.

THE DRAMA is presented through the thoughts of the main character, Quentin, as he seeks to understand the effect of past events upon his present and future.

His narrations reflect upon scenes of his past which are both revelations and illuminations. He traces carefully the human experiences which could bring "the fall."

The audience is led through a search which, according to one critic, "cuts to the bone."

IN QUENTIN'S tender and anguished relationship with Maggie, which many critics feel is a reproduction of Miller's life with Marilyn Monroe, we see a painful view of another "fall" for man.

The set, consisting of raised platforms and ramps, was designed by Peter Vagenas. Douglas Koertge did costume designs.

The cast includes: Mike Drake, Charleston senior, as Quentin; Peggy Johnson, Des Plaines senior, as Maggie; Lynn Morton, Litchfield junior, as Holga; Carol Smith, Olney junior, as the mother;

DON PRITCHARD, Harrisburg junior, as the father; Phyllis Bartges, Danville junior, as Delice; Pamela Johnson, Charleston freshman, as Elsie;

Mary Boyer, Charleston freshman, as Louise; Ed Bagger, Riverside junior, as Lou; and Gary McKee, Mt. Carmel senior, as Mickey.
