

Times-Courier

Serving Charleston and the Heart of Lincoln Trail Country

142nd Year, No. 307, 25 Cents

omat familiar with
r, was optimistic.
ifference between
c statements and going on behind
e said, requesting

raged by the silent

told Habib the decided to give time. "If nothing
these negotiations,
ne Israel," one
"We gave every
this problem the

the U.S. 6th Fleet
ly circling in the 2 miles west of photographer Mike
red aircraft.

rted seeing a
, presumably the
which can carry
d a crew 609. A expert said the h Beirut in two

e said the Navy ations "so that if p — and I would
t of the 6th Fleet

ent spokesman
peace talks are a very sensitive
e American offer O evacuation or al peace-keeping
d."

in Wednesday's PLO Chairman

on Page 2)

y
ed
the financially

Casting 'Godspell'

A lighthearted and upbeat interpretation of the Bible is the subject of the musical "Godspell," to be performed this weekend by the Eastern Illinois University theater department. At right, Tom Cravens kisses his prodigal brother, played by Marty Stanberry of Charleston. Things don't look good for a prostitute (far right). The Last Supper is represented above. The musical will be performed in the Fine Arts Building at 8 p.m. July 9, 10, 12, 13 and 14 and at 2 p.m. July 11. E.G. Gabbard directs.

Photos by Dan Hagen