Course Description – ENG 1001-G

(3-0-3) Graded (A, B, C, N/C) A course in the reading and writing of expressive, expository, and persuasive essays. Attention is given to effective expression, clear structure, adequate development, and documentation of sources. WC Prerequisites; Notes: ENG 1000 or proficiency in basic skills as determined by the English Department. Note: A grade of ‘C’ or better in ENG 1001G, ENG 1002G, and CMN 1310G or in accepted substitutions is a requirement for the Bachelor’s degree at Eastern as well as a General Education requirement. Credits: 3

On Writing:

To learn to write well, you must practice the craft and read broadly. Those two elements are the best.

Course Notes:

• D2L will hopefully become your best friend. You will be able to download some assignment materials and post most all of your completed assignments to D2L. If you follow directions carefully and post your essays in the proper dropbox and post them on time, there should be little confusion.
• Outside of class, we will communicate using the D2L built-in email.
• Use my EIU email address only in an emergency. But I will check both emails daily.
• DO NOT send your essays as attachments to the either email address. You will post them to assignment dropboxes on D2L, unless I request another delivery method. I will delete emailed essays without reading or replying to the email they are attached to. Essays must be submitted through D2L so that they are processed through the system’s originality checker. This facilitates the revision-based process of evaluation of your writing, upon which this course is based.
• I will not accept paper essays in class (more on that later).
• Essays will be due in electronic format no later than midnight of the due date.
• Essays submitted at even a minute past due date/time will receive a 10 percent deduction (see section on late submissions below) and 10 percent for each additional day late, up to 30 percent.
• Essays more than three days late will NOT be accepted so please don’t submit them, even if the appropriate dropbox is accessible. Essays submitted beyond the final course date will not be accepted.
• Use Microsoft Word format (.docx) exclusively as your word processing program. If your computer does not have Word installed, the library and Triad, along with other campus resources, have computers available with MS Word installed. Any other format will be deleted, not graded, and no credit given.

• I will NOT ACCEPT essays pasted into the message window of the email. I will delete those emails without acknowledgement.

• You must also turn in the "marked copies" of your essay to D2L with the revisions marked in yellow highlight, like this. We will discuss how you will accomplish this miracle in class.

• Each Sunday, post your journal entries in the appropriate dropbox (more on journaling below).

Assignment details (subject to change)

Journaling
• Required daily. Go to the Journal Forum located on the main content page for instructions. You must journal daily on D2L. The best way to do this is to create a document using MS Word during each week and store it on your hard drive. Record seven entries and turn them into the D2L journal dropbox at the end of the week (Friday). Other students cannot see your entries so do not be shy. I can, however, but I will not read them unless you ask.

You must make 100 entries (no more than two per day) over the course of the semester to earn the full score of 10 points (i.e., 90 entries = 9 points; 80 = 8 points). Each entry must be substantial. That means entries must be 100 words in length and delve into something other than your daily habits.

Entries must concern something that impacts your life or society. Details are important and will help you understand your thoughts and feelings on a subject.

You could write about relationship problems and what you will do to solve those problems, or on the military operations of the United States. Perhaps you have served or want to serve as a soldier and are troubled by your experience or excited by the possibilities, or you could write about a loved one or friend who has enlisted. This may seem pointless, but I assure you, it will make you more comfortable with writing and improve your writing skills. That's why you are here. Yes?

Essays

• Four essays: To get an idea of how I will evaluate your essays, see the English Department's master rubric, which you will find at the end of the schedule below. You will also receive a more detailed essay prompt to help guide you in completing a successful essay. I will give feedback on all your essays except for the final essay. If you require feedback on the final essay please let me know, but you may use that essay as one of the university-required essays submitted for the Electronic Writing Portfolio requirement. All essays shall be written in MLA format -- 12 point, Times New Roman typeface, double-spaced top to bottom, one-inch margins all round.

• Peer Editing — You will be required to assist your classmates in improving the quality of their essays. Some of these may be ungraded assignments but nonetheless important. You must also participate in classroom discussion and activities. You are required to participate in classroom discussion.

• Revision-driven grade: We will take a revision-based, multi-tiered approach to writing. That means, for most essays, you will receive a grade for each of two drafts. The first draft will count for 70% of the essay grade, while the final will be worth the other 30%. That does NOT mean that mediocre will pass for the first draft. It should be focused, with all required parts in place, free of all grammatical, mechanical, punctuation and spelling errors. You will post these drafts on D2L.
Each of you will sit down with me, in my office (CH3033), to conference over that first draft. I will make suggestions, point out problems and errors in your text, and repost your essay on D2L. You will then make corrections and improvements to your essay and repost your essays in the appropriate dropbox. And, of course, highlight revisions in yellow. Otherwise I cannot readily see or judge your ability to revise or rewrite your essay. Those things – rewriting and revision – round out your ability as a college writer.

More on required essays

Students often try to guess what their instructors want in an essay, and most of them never guess correctly. This section on essay content seeks to shed light on that issue.

Along with other writing assignments, you will write two general types of essays in this class – open and closed form. Open form essays are ... well ... open; they spring largely from personal reflection. The first one will be a descriptive essay whereas the second will be a narrative.
Although these essays are open, they will be based on general guidelines that I set (those guidelines can be found on D2L).

The other two major essays will be closed form essays. That is, you will follow a preset structure ... to a point. The first will be a comparison and contrast. The final essay will be a persuasive essay with a research component. Both have set formats, to an extent. They both require a thesis statement and must follow a formal style. Among other characteristics, they should NOT contain contractions, first- or second-person point-of-view ("I" or "you"), slang or informal language in general.

And, open and closed form essays alike must be clean of spelling, grammar and punctuation errors. That means you must make multiple revisions and proofread closely. I will not be kind to essays filled with mechanical errors, so you must utilize the handbook (Little, Brown), which was issued you at the beginning of the course, to help you fix these kinds of errors. Worse, if you do not follow the advice I provide, your essays will be graded harshly.

For example, if I mark that you have a problem with comma splices on your first essay, but you continue to make comma splices on subsequent drafts, I will deduct two, perhaps three times the percentage points for these errors as I normally would.

Grading

The following scale may not include all assignments. I will calculate your essay grades according to the following scale:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Points earned</th>
<th>Equals grade earned</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>9-10/10 (for shorter essays 1-3)</td>
<td>A</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8-8.9/10 (for final paper)</td>
<td>B</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7-7.9/10 (for final paper)</td>
<td>C</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Final-Grade Percentage Scale (point totals may vary and exceed 100): A=90-100%; B=80-89%; C=70-79%. No Credit=69.9% or less. If you receive a NC (no credit) you must retake the course. You will not receive a midterm unless you're in danger of getting a D or an F (NC). Participation can mean the difference between an A and B.

Other assignments and their scores:
- In-Class exercises (5 points each)
- Peer Editing (5 points each)
- Team Presentation (15 points)
- Journaling (Calculated at end of semester, 10 points possible).

For your convenience, I have provided a table so that you can track your score throughout the semester:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Assignment</th>

Course Requirements

The keywords for this course could be process and personality. You will learn how to improve your writing through attentiveness to a process – your process – that will yield a clear, cohesive and effective final product.

You may subscribe to the myth that writing is a one-shot deal, etched in stone, static, etcetera, etcetera. Done means done. Right? Not so fast. You will undoubtedly discover more needs to or must be done. That means you will be required to revise your essays. You will revise ... revise ... revise ... and – you guessed it – revise, alas, to fall well short of perfection.

You will also see how through the development of your papers and daily journaling good writing evolves through stages. Oh yes. We will sneak in some grammar and other mundane lessons along the way.

You may not see how D2L can help you achieve the kind of quality of which I speak. But it does help facilitate it by offering the option of uploading draft copies. However, if you are not familiar with D2L, I highly recommend you sign up for one of the D2L orientations available through CATS. You will need to familiarize yourself with D2L to facilitate navigation using the online tools. After all, you will need to log on to D2L to find feedback and grades.
You will submit your essays only in electronic format. I will give you more details on how to do that during class. Essays attached to emails or pasted in the window of the message window will NOT be recognized or acknowledged.

Essay assignments:
Four essays:
• Narrative Essay
• Descriptive
• Comparison-Contrast
• Final Persuasive/research.

Essays will be of varying length and complexity.

• Reading textbook assignments participating in class and team discussions.
• Journaling.
• In-Class exercises.
• Peer Editing – You will be required to assist your classmates in improving the quality of their essays
• Conferences – Team and one-to-one (with me)

Instructor Policies

• Late Assignments

Submitting assignments: All essays will be submitted electronically no later than midnight (or the time/date due listed in D2L). An essay received at 12:01 a.m. or later will be subject to percentage deduction, as follows:

Late assignments: For each day late, your paper will receive a 10 percent deduction. Papers will not be accepted beyond midnight (or time slated) of the third day and will receive a zero. If you have a legitimate excused absence, especially planned absences, you must turn in your assignment beforehand. No exceptions. If you are ill, we will make mutually reasonable arrangements to complete missed assignments, but essays will still be subject to these deductions.

In the normal course of things, I will not accept any work after the last day of class.

• Attendance

Be in class. To gain full benefit from the class, you must be present at all classes. I have established the following simple attendance policy:

Except in rare instances, you are expected to attend class. However, I may excuse some absences, such as documented University-sanctioned absences and physician-verified illnesses. Absences will be excused entirely at my discretion. And, you are responsible for asking a classmate what we did during class. Here’s my attendance policy. Memorize it.

For each class missed – except documented University-sanctioned absences, which are excused – you will receive a two-point deduction from your total score. So miss as many classes as you wish. Just remember, if you miss five classes for illness, family emergencies or whatever, you will lose 10 points from your point total. That is nearly a full grade level. An A would slip to a B, a B to a C, and a C to an NC (non-credit), which means you must retake the course.

NO EXCEPTIONS.

Absences for court appearances are not excused under any circumstances.
Bereavement absences are acceptable, if verified.

If you know in advance of excused absences, again you must submit work before the absence.

To pass this course, you must earn a C. Those who earn a D or an F must retake the course. Unless you are earning a D or an F, you will not receive a Midterm grade.

Tardiness — Please do not interrupt class with excessive tardiness.

My tardiness: If the occasion arises that I am late for class, please wait 10 minutes before leaving. If you leave prior to that, you will be given an unexcused absence. I will make every effort to inform you of my absences beforehand.

Conflicts

Disagreements among students may and sometimes do occur. But I expect that we all treat each other with respect. That means, you should address the issue, not criticize the person.

Use of Technology — personal or classroom

Do not use smart phones or even dumb phones in class. Keep them put away and silent during class. In addition, computers are to be used only for class-related activities. I will ask you to leave class and count your absence as unexcused for the day, if you,

- Look at or use your cell phone
- Use any computer, including your own laptop or the computer provided for you in the lab, for any purpose unrelated to the current class discussion or task.

Other

- STUDENTS WHO HAVE A DOCUMENTED DISABILITY AND WISH TO RECEIVE ACADEMIC ACCOMMODATION SHOULD CONTACT THE OFFICE OF DISABILITY SERVICES (581-6583).

- STUDENTS WHO HAVE AN ACT SCORE IN ENGLISH OF 14 OR BELOW, OR WHO HAVE NO TEST SCORES ON FILE WITH THE UNIVERSITY, MUST PASS ENGLISH 1000 BEFORE ENROLLING IN ENGLISH 1001G.

Need help with a writing assignment? I encourage you to use EIU’s Writing Center located at RM 3110, Coleman Hall. This free service provides one-to-one conferences with writing center consultants who can help you with brainstorming, organizing, developing support, and documenting your papers. The writing center is open to help any student from any major at any stage of his or her writing process, and its system of one-to-one conferences demonstrates value and respect for individual writers, all of whom can benefit from feedback about their works in progress. To schedule an appointment, you can drop by the center (3110 Coleman Hall) or you can call 581-5929. The writing center is open Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. On Friday, hours of operation are 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Desired Learning Outcomes (not necessarily all inclusive)

To practice academic writing skills. (writing, speaking, critical thinking)

Write expository and persuasive papers throughout the semester (a minimum of 5,000 words) in which paragraphs, sentences, and words develop a central idea. (All essays will be written in academic format, conforming to MLA style guidelines. You will also learn and practice the format of a formal argument.)
To identify a personal writing process. (writing, critical thinking)
Develop skills in revising their own writing by participating in peer review workshops and by revising their essays. You will be expected to submit multiple drafts, reflecting a process that includes revision and proofing, and you will help your classmates to improve their writing skills. (We will discover how you approach the process of writing - are you a plunger-on or a planner? And, then fine-tune your process to get the most out of it.)

To apply various rhetorical strategies (critical thinking, writing.)
You will use narration, description, comparison and contrast, and persuasion to communicate your ideas clearly and succinctly.

To develop skills in critical reading/thinking skills (critical thinking, writing, citizenship)
Develop skills in critical reading and listening for understanding and evaluating culturally diverse course materials and for becoming more discerning readers. (You will question the writing of authors from culturally diverse course materials as well as the writing of your classmates.)

To collaborate with your classmates on team projects (collaboration)
Develop collaboration skills. You will be placed on a team and prepare a presentation. Expect to function smoothly, cooperatively and equally on your team.

To learn how to navigate and participate in a partial online learning environment. (Developing Technical/Online Skills)
Working in D2L and other online forums (as needed and assigned) will supplement classroom activities, not replace.

To expand your horizons through diverse reading. (critical thinking)
The course reading will reflect historically, socially, and culturally relevant issues. Your reading will also guide you as you develop your writing skills. (We will spend little time on rehashing the reading in class, but you will still be required to read and understand the material. If you have questions about your reading, ask me. I should see the evidence of your careful reading emerge in your writing.)

To develop research skills. (writing, critical thinking)
Develop research skills, including effective use of source materials and principles of documentation.

To improve upon mechanical skills (writing, speaking, critical thinking)
Write purposeful, adequately developed paragraphs and sentences that are direct, economical, free of ambiguity, and structurally appropriate for the ideas expressed and for the audience to whom they are directed. (We will discuss these concerns, and you may be quizzed on grammar and sentence structure.)

Any teacher who discovers an act of plagiarism — "The appropriation or imitation of the language, ideas, and/or thoughts of another author, and representation of them as one's original work" (Random House Dictionary of the English Language) — has the right responsibility to impose upon the guilty student an appropriate penalty, up to and including immediate assignments of a grade of F for the assigned essay and a grade of F for the course, and to report the incident to the Judicial Affairs Office. Respect for the work of others should encompass all formats, including print, electronic, and oral sources.

If you commit any of the following, you could be plagiarizing:
- Buying a paper from a paper mill (duh);
- Asking someone else to write your paper (double duh!);
- Using a paper with words, phrases, sentences, or ideas found in your or another student's work (not always so obvious);
- Summarizing or quoting someone else's words without giving that person proper credit (tricky).

If you have any questions about plagiarism, please contact me BEFORE you turn in the paper. Plagiarizing will earn you a failing grade on the paper and perhaps a failing grade in the course — or worse. D2L gives me the ability to compare your writing to millions of other academic essays, published or submitted in thousands of other classrooms. From that process, the originality checker will generate a report consisting of percentages; the higher the percentage, the more closely your essay matches parts of another essay(s).

Guidelines for Evaluating Writing Assignments in EIU's English Department

Grades on written work range from A to F. The categories listed below are based on rhetorical principles and assume intellectual responsibility and honesty. Strengths and weaknesses in each area will influence the grade, though individual teachers may emphasize some categories over others and all categories are deeply interrelated.
