Course Description/Objectives: This is a writing, reading, research intensive course, designed to introduce students to short fiction, poetry, and drama. By the end of this class, students should be able to analyze literature and express their ideas clearly through critical essays and regular written responses. We will place emphasis upon improving composition skills and critical thinking. Since we have technology available to us, we will use the Internet, electronic databases, and e-mail conferencing.

We will read numerous short stories, poems, and a play. Students will write 2 formal research essays and 1 collaborative essay. In addition, regular writing responses are required almost weekly. The extended objective of this class is that the students develop a greater appreciation for diverse literature via class discussion and writing experience. While this class is demanding, it can be engaging, active, and even fun!

Requirements:
----Diagnostic Essay
A) 2 critical papers (3 pages each) worth 100 points

B) 1 panel presentation/ collaborative paper
C) Reading responses
D) Quizzes
E) Participation
F) Comprehensive Final Exam
   (Short Answer and Essay Form)
G) Misc. which may include in-class writing, exercises, Internet research, e-mail responses

Grading Policy:
My grading policy is easy to understand and allows you to keep track of your own points. I divide your total points by the total number of points possible. This results in a percentage. For instance, 900 points divided by 900 equals 100%. Keep everything! As for essays, I grade them according to the following criteria: focus, organization, support and elaboration, process, style, and mechanics. (See EIU English Department's Guidelines).

Letter grades for assigned essays are: A=90-100; B=89-80; C=79-70; D=69-60. NOTE: Any student who receives less than a C for the class will be issued an "NC". While this is not figured into a student's GPA, a student who receives a grade of NC must retake the course.
Attendance:
This class revolves around class discussion and writing, not lecture. Also, changes in the course outline may occur throughout the semester. As a result, regular attendance is crucial to your grade and your success in this class. If you miss more than five classes, your overall letter grade will be lowered. If you miss more than eight, you will receive an “NC” for the semester.

Late Work:
Essays are due at the beginning of class unless otherwise indicated. For every day a paper is late, it loses 10 points off the final grade, regardless. I will not accept papers a week after they are due, unless you have an excused absence. Note: In order to pass the class, each assignment must be completed. Anyone who misses the final exam or who fails to turn in formal papers will not pass.

Make-Up Work: A student who has an excused absence or who participates in a University sanctioned activity may retake quizzes or make-up missed work. A student without an excused absence may not.

ADA Policy: If you are a student who has a documented disability and wishes to receive academic accommodations, please contact the coordinator of the office of disabilities (6583) as soon as possible.

Plagiarism: Eastern Illinois University English Department’s policy on plagiarism: “Any teacher who discovers an act of plagiarism—’The appropriation or imitation of the language, ideas, and/or thoughts of another author, and representation of them as one’s original work’ (Random House Dictionary of the English Language)—has the right and the responsibility to impose upon the student an appropriate penalty up to and including immediate assignment of a grade of F for the course, and to report the Incident to the Judicial Affairs Office.”

Manuscripts: All essays must be typed and double-spaced. Your name, date, the essay assignment, my last name, and the title of the essay should appear on a separate title page, not at the top of the first page of the essay. Avoid quadruple spacing between paragraphs: it is unnecessary and distracting. All essays will be given a number grade, a letter grade, critical comments, and an explanation of the grade. You may discuss any and all work at length during my office hours or a scheduled conference.

Written Responses: All informal responses to the literature should be typed and double spaced.

Conferences:
Throughout the semester I will hold at least one writing conference with each student, maybe more, time permitting. While at this time we discuss successes, problem areas, and other facets of your performance, I encourage all of you to approach me with any difficulties at any time this semester.
