Spring 1-15-2009

ENG 3005-001: Technical Communications

Randy Beebe
Eastern Illinois University

Follow this and additional works at: http://thekeep.eiu.edu/english_syllabi_spring2009
Part of the English Language and Literature Commons

Recommended Citation
http://thekeep.eiu.edu/english_syllabi_spring2009/96

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the 2009 at The Keep. It has been accepted for inclusion in Spring 2009 by an authorized administrator of The Keep. For more information, please contact tabruns@eiu.edu.
English 3005: Technical Communications
Spring 2009

Professor Randy Beebe
Office: 3841 Coleman Hall
Phone (O) 581-5013
e-mail: rlbeebe@eiu.edu

Office Hours: M, 9-11; T, R, 9:30-11:00 & by appointment

Requirements

1. Writing Projects*
   - Project 1: Writing in the Workplace 15 points
   - Project 2: Definition/Description 20 points
   - Project 3: Evaluative Report 25 points
   - Project 4: Translation of a Specialized Term 30 points
   - Project 5: TBA 30 points
   - Project 6: TBA 25 points
2. In-Class Writing, Quizzes 35 points (approx.)
3. Participation (based on your attendance, involvement in and preparation for class activities and discussion) 20 points

Total: 200 points

*Note: The order and exact schedule for the writing projects may change as I assess the class’s writing needs. You will receive a written assignment sheet for each writing project, which will include, among other things, due dates, grading criteria, and point distribution for the assignment’s required activities.

Goals

The main goal of this course is simple: to help you develop your writing and communication skills so you can use them as functional and persuasive tools in your chosen career. To achieve this end, each writing project will not only stress the broader concerns of writing (such as, clarity of purpose, development of ideas, invention and sentence strategies), but will also introduce you to strategies of document design, audience accommodation, and visual rhetoric.

Responsibilities

- Be in class on time and prepared (which includes having your textbook and any required handouts).
- Complete your major writing projects on time.
- Have a notebook for class notes and for in-class writing activities.
• Keep all drafts of writing projects.
• Participate actively.

For each writing project, I will handout an assignment sheet that specifies the requirements, due date, expectations, and grading criteria. Usually the grading criteria will emphasize particular concepts that we will be discussing in class for that assignment. However, superior papers are always those that express purpose clearly, that are well designed (in respect to format and overall look), and that are stylistically polished.

Since we will be following the idea of “writing as a process” — the idea that good writing comes from continual rethinking and revising of form, content, and style — it is important that you begin the writing for each project as quickly and possible, so that you can identify weaknesses and resolve them before the final draft is due.

Unless otherwise indicated, all assignments are due on the date specified on the assignment sheet. Papers turned in after the due date will be penalized five points for each calendar day they are late — unless you have made prior arrangements with me. I will not accept work that is more than one week late.

Although I encourage you to turn in your projects in class on the due date, you have until 4:00 p.m. on the due date to turn in your work (either to me or in my mailbox, 3155 Coleman Hall). In other words, I want you to be in class on that day regardless of the status of your work.

Note: You may email me your assignments. In most cases, I prefer this method. If you do submit via email, please send your papers as attachments (preferably as a RTF file). Also, bear in mind that when you submit an electronic document, you are entirely responsible for the format of the documents, which includes any visual aids.

You may revise selected assignments. In fact, I encourage you to do so. However, you must speak with me before you submit the revision (so we can arrange a conference to discuss writing strategies), and you must turn in the revision within seven days of receiving the final paper back from me. You must meet these two stipulations for me to accept your revised paper.

Most of our class time will be spent discussing the writing projects you're working on, which we will discuss as a class or in small group workshops or in individual writing conferences. It is vital that you are in class all the time. I usually allow two absences or personal days. After that (on the third unexcused absence), you will lose 5 points from your final grade for each unexcused absence. If you miss more than 4 classes, you will receive an F for the course.

This is not a lecture course. The success of the course depends on your active and continued involvement. Approximately 25% (approximately 55 points) of your final grade is based on your participation and your active involvement in class. activities. You can assure yourself the full 25% by being in class, prepared, and participating fully in class activities.

Plagiarism
Since the university is a place of ideas, discussion, and reflection, it views plagiarism—the taking of others' ideas as one's own—very harshly. The penalty for plagiarizing is swift and severe. You will receive an immediate F for the course and notice will be given to the Office of Judicial Affairs. If you have any questions about plagiarism—however small—please talk to me before you turn in your work.

Electronic Writing Portfolio
This course is a writing-centered course and, as such, your papers satisfy the requirements for the Electronic Writing Portfolio. If you plan on using work from this course for your EWP, I ask that you complete this before the last two weeks of the semester.

Conferences
If you are having any problems with a paper, I encourage you to come by and see me during my office hours or make an appointment for a more convenient time. I will be more than happy to talk any number of times about a single paper or particular writing problem.

Of course, you may email me (rlbeebe@eiu.edu), which I will respond to as quickly as I can (usually within 24 hours during the business week).

Computer Etiquette
You're welcome to bring your notebook computer to class. However, I ask that you observe common rules of etiquette and decorum when you use it. In brief, you may use it to take notes or complete an in-class writing activity. You may not use it for anything not directly related to class work.

Please turn off (or mute) cell phones or any other PDA. Out of respect for the class and the integrity of class activities, absolutely no text messaging during class is allowed.

Students with Disabilities
If you have a documented disability and wish to receive academic accommodations, please contact the Coordinator of the Office of Disability Services (581-6583) as soon as possible.