The following texts are used for English 3600:

Attendance: Plan to attend very class. You might glance at page 55 of the 2006-2007 catalog concerning this matter. Obviously, a student seldom does well in a course and never performs to his or her potential when he or she cuts class frequently. For that reason, I have established the following attendance policy. For every five unexcused absences, your final grade will be lowered one letter grade. If you have ten unexcused absences, your final grade will be lowered two letter grades, etc. Late papers will be accepted only in cases of extreme emergency—severe illness, official university activity, or other urgent reasons.

Departmental statement on plagiarism: “Any teacher who discovers an act of plagiarism—‘the appropriation or imitation of the language, ideas, and/or thoughts of another author, and representation of them as one’s original work’ (Random House Dictionary of the English Language)—has the right and the responsibility to impose upon the guilty student an appropriate penalty up to and including a grade of F for the course, and to report the incident to the Judicial Affairs Office.”

Grading: There will be a final and a midterm, each worth 20 percent; frequent group, reading check quizzes, and perhaps a group project, all worth 30 percent; and a medium-length paper (6 to 8 pages of typewritten text) worth 30 percent, due approximately 4 or 5 classes before the end of the semester. Of course, you are responsible for keeping up with reading and writing assignments, even if you are unable to attend class. Learn the assignment from a classmate or from your instructor. If you have a documented disability and wish to receive academic accommodations contact the Coordinator of the Offices of Disability Services (581-6583) as soon as possible.
Course Description:

A best seller since the invention of the printing press, and, for at least a thousand years before that, a crucial text in the West, the Bible, as comprehensive as it is rich, still compels our attention today for its diversity, literary craft, and influence upon later writers. To those familiar with its content, there is virtually no area of human experience that is unexplored, no literary style that does not appear, and no archetype that does not come alive within in pages.

Antedating both Chaucer and Dante, and in large part, Virgil, by many centuries, and, in some portions, perhaps Homer as well, the Bible has cast its imaginative spell upon such English-speaking writers as gifted and distinct as Shakespeare, Milton, Blake, and T. S. Eliot. Closer to home, and more recently, Flannery O’Connor, John Updike, Larry Woiwode, and Rita Dove are either aware of or echo its many chords. Can any student receive a truly liberal education without knowing the literary dimension of this significant work? Hardly.

Class procedure will consist of very informal lecture and discussion periods, group work, and when relevant video. Grades will be based on class participation, occasional reading check quizzes, a medium-length paper, a midterm, and a final.
