Course Objectives: The purpose of this class is to give a general background in the American Literature written since 1950. The course will focus on the central literary movements of this period (for example, later modernism, confessional poetry, the beat experience, existentialism, hippie-ism, postmodernism, neo-regionalism, and dirty realism) and the social, historical, and cultural conditions (for example, the Minority Rights movement, the rise of the suburbs, the Vietnam war, and the Mallification of America) which in part give rise to these movements. Along with this general background, we will read and discuss a number of literary works which will serve as examples of these movements.

Course Requirements: Reading of Assigned Texts
- Final Paper 100 points
- Mid Term 100 points
- Final Exam 100 points
- Quizzes 60 points

Grades:
- 324-360 points = A
- 252-287 points = C
- 0-215 points = F
- 288-323 points = B
- 216-251 points = D

Reading of Assigned Texts: This course requires much reading, and some of the works are difficult. I've tried to space the big readings out so that we aren't doing one big thing after another. But, pretty much, you have to keep reading.

Discussion: We learn about literature by reading it and talking about it. Except for a few occasions when I will be introducing literary periods, movements, I will not lecture. Class will revolve most of the time around your observations, insights, and questions.

Exams: They will be comprehensive and will contain objective and subjective components. You will be asked to 1) identify characters, situations, images from the literature, 2) identify and explain quotations from the works we will be reading, 3) answer essay questions about them.

Papers: You will write one paper, at least 2000 words long (about 6 pages), on an author we'll be reading this semester. This paper should be analytical (proving some significant point) but need not be critical (i.e. using outside criticism). The paper will be graded on both form and content. Highest grades will go to papers which are most insightfully, thoughtfully, energetically and gracefully written. Further, the papers should be typed and should use the MLA format. Papers will be due shortly before the end of the semester. More information regarding every aspect of this assignment will be handed out following midterm.
Quizzes: There will be 12 quizzes during the semester. The questions will sometimes be objective, sometimes subjective. Each quiz will be worth 5 points. If you miss a quiz, you will be able to make it up if you have a valid, serious excuse for the absence.

Plagiarism: Note the English Dept's statement: "Any teacher who discovers an act of plagiarism—'The appropriation or imitation of the language, ideas, and/or thoughts of another author, and representation of them as one's original work' (Random House Dict.)—has the right and the responsibility to impose upon the guilty student an appropriate penalty, up to and including immediate assignment of a grade of F for the course.

Syllabus: The following may change because of various unforeseen factors. Also, note well that I do not give the titles of specific poems that we will be reading; this information will come before each assignment.
